HITCHCOCK URGING
SENATE ENDORSEMENT

Nebraskan States Differences on Some of President's Recommendations Should Not Defeat Endorsement of General Proposition.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, January 3. — Senator Hitchcock's resolution to have the Senate endorse President Wilson's peace note came up again in the Senate today, and the Nebraska senator urged its adoption.

"In framing this resolution," he said, "I have carefully avoided reference to those portions of the President's note which might provoke controversy."

"I realize there may be two opinions as to some of the President's suggestions, but I do not see how there can be two opinions on a simple proposition that, in the interest of humanity and civilization, this country has appealed to nations at war to state terms upon which peace might be made."

Senator Hitchcock said there was recent precedent for the President's action and referred to former President Roosevelt's peace overtures to end the Russo-Japanese war.

LODGE OPPOSES

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, January 3.—The resolution went over for discussion again tomorrow at the request of Senator Hitchcock, its author, after a spirited debate in which Senators Lodge, and Borah, Republicans, opposed action at this time.

The debate was marked by an attack by Senator Lodge upon Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, because of the latter's action in issuing a newspaper statement approving the note.

This action, Senator Lodge said, added to the misunderstanding about its purpose and added to the opinion that it was timed and intended to aid Germany in making peace terms she seeks.

Senator Lodge expressly said, however, that he accepted in full faith the declaration of the President in the note that it was in no way associated with the peace proposals of the Central Powers.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, January 3.—The German government replied to the Danish, Swedish and Norwegian notes of December 29 on January 1, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters.

The reply expressed the fullest appreciation of the motives of the three governments and referred the Scandinavian powers to the German note of December 12 and the reply to President Wilson.

TWO MORE SUNK

(Associated Press Cable.)
London, January 3. — Lloyd's shipping agency announces that the British steamer Holly Branch, of 3,568 tons gross, and the Norwegian steamer Erica have been sunk.

BIG NAVAL DEMONSTRATION TO MARK
TAKING OVER OF DANISH WEST INDIES

Plans for a great naval demonstration to signalize the American acquisition of the Danish West Indies are being considered by state and navy department officials. Probably the entire Atlantic fleet, headed by the flagship Pennsylvania (No. 4 in the picture) and commanded by Admiral Mayo No. 1, will be ordered to St. Thomas (No. 3), the long sought naval base, to participate in the celebration.

GREEKS
DICKERING

Government "Appears" to Wish to Proceed Rapidly in Negotiations.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, January 3. — Reuters' Athens correspondent cables the following semi-official note referring to the recent demands of the Entente Allies on the Greek Government for reparation for the losses suffered as a result of the recent clash between Greek and Entente troops at Athens: "The Government is considering the latest note presented by the Allied powers."

"Despite its desire to give another proof of its sincerity toward the Entente, certain currents of public opinion make its task difficult."

The Government appears to wish to proceed rapidly with its decisions regarding the note and to endeavor to combine the safeguarding of the vital interests of the country with maintenance of the traditional friendship between Greece and the Entente, and hopes the latter will assist its efforts."

COAL DEALERS
GIVE TESTIMONY

Butter and Egg Men Also Called Before Cleveland Jury.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Cleveland, O., January 3. — Several more coal dealers were testifying today in the Federal Grand Jury investigation of the prevailing coal shortage.

The Government charge that dealers have been holding coal for more than sixty days for speculation has been bitterly resented by the men subpoenaed.

Twenty-two men, the majority of them members of the Cleveland Butter and Egg Board, have also been subpoenaed.

The latter and other food dealers will testify in the Federal Grand Jury investigation of food prices coincident with the coal inquiry.

The Atlantic fleet will mobilize at Guantanamo, Cuba, for winter maneuvers in January, and will be reviewed there by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt (No. 2 in picture). Mr. Roosevelt, who will be on his way to inspect the naval forces in Haiti and San Domingo, may take charge of the ceremonies at St. Thomas.

ADVANCING TEUTONS
MENACE STRONGHOLDS

Rear Guard Actions

By the Retreating Russian Armies Now Resting on Final Base at Sereth—Comparative Quiet Reigns On Other Fronts.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Reports from both sides in the struggle in Roumania indicate that the Russians have now virtually reached the line of the Sereth, to which they have been falling back while fighting strong rear guard actions.

Berlin today announces that troops of the Ninth Army, under Field Marshal von Mackensen, are now before Pokshant, which is on the fortified line which the Russians have been preparing, and which follows in a general way the course of the Sereth.

Ending at the Danube, between Braila and Galata, this line extends northward through Moldavia in the direction of the western Moldavian frontier.

On the Danube end of the line the security of Braila has been further imperilled, according to the Berlin report, by a new advance of the Teutonic forces on the Dobruja side of the river, where the Russians have been driven back further into the northwestern corner of the province, opposite Braila.

Elsewhere in the field of war no important operations are reported in any of the official accounts, patrol and artillery activities furnishing the only material for the bulk of the statements.

IS THE NATION
NOW AT WAR

Supreme Court of Ohio Takes Case Under Advice, in Which That Question Arises.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., January 3.—The Ohio Supreme Court today took under advisement the question as to whether this country is in a state of war with Mexico, after hearing arguments in the suit of Adjutant General Bryant for war time salary as assistant adjutant general from June 18, 1916, until the time he was appointed adjutant general, several weeks ago.

As assistant adjutant general, Bryant claims he is entitled to pay at the rate of $4,000 a year, or $1,400 more than he was allowed as assistant adjutant general, because the country is in a state of war.

State Auditor Donahey refused to authorize this increase until the Supreme Court decides the question.

MEXICAN CRISIS IS AGAIN GRAVE

Minister of Public Instruction Urges Haste in Work of Convention.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Queretaro, Mexico, January 3. — Felix M. Palavicini, former Secretary of Public Instruction, declared before the Constitution Assembly late last night that the international situation was grave.

General Carranza, said the speaker, had refused to resume conferences with the United States representatives until the American troops were withdrawn from Mexico, unconditionally, and he declared that the assembly must rush the work on the constitution and proclaim the right of the people while General Carranza and the constitutionalists forces were battling against a dangerous enemy to save the national honor and integrity.

ANOTHER LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS BROMLEY SERMON

Duty of All Christians Made Clear in Forceful Discourse Tuesday Evening — Tabernacle Now Dry and Comfortable.

An audience occupying two-thirds of the capacity of the tabernacle heard Dr. Bromley in an interesting discourse founded on Psalms 85-6, in which he appealed to all Christians to aid in the revival work, pointing out that revivals were meant first of all to revive and strengthen the religion of all Christians, that they may aid in the work of soul winning.

His appeal was both logical and along new lines of thought which appealed to all.

At the close of his sermon he asked for the Christian people to come forward, and 200 went forward and were given instruction in personal work.

The singing was a feature of the meeting, more than 125 voices forming the choir. The tabernacle is now dry and comfortable.

BROMLEY SAYINGS.

The three things that will bring a revival are the preached word, prevailing prayer and personal work.

Don't you get on the side against this revival. The devil is opposed to this revival and you don't want to be on his side.

Some people pray north of their collar button. They do not pray from the heart.

The destiny of this nation will not be formed by the tariff or yet by the European war, but, rather by the ideals of the coming generation.

The great difficulty with many people is they can't see any further than their nose.

Faith is something you cannot see, it is something that is based on the elements you can't see.

Faith to be of any value at all must be definite.

When a man prays money out of his own purse then he has religion.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

Quarters for "amen" is the rule at the tabernacle. When the evangelist heard an amen in the midst of his sermon he stopped preaching and offered a quarter for the next amen, and there were several responses. A man on the platform was first, and, the evangelist started to dig for the two bits, but, fifteen cents is all he could raise and the amen is being paid for on the installment plan.

Wednesday morning a number of autoists started from the Y. M. C. A. for a country religious trip. The journey was made for the purpose of preaching the gospel to the country folk and Evangelist Bromley did the speaking on the tour.

SCHEDULE FOR THE WEEK.

Preaching tonight at 7:30.
Thursday, 10:00 a. m., Neighborhood prayer meetings; 7:30 p. m., preaching service.

WASHINGTON TENT NO. 390.

Sir Knights of the Macabees! You are called to meet in regular session at the Odd Fellow's Hall, Friday evening, January 5th, 7:00 p. m. This will be the most important meeting of the year and you should be there.
E. S. NORRIS, Secretary.

Bromley Tabernacle on the City Lot.

The picture shown herewith is of the Bromley Tabernacle fronting on Market street. The unusual sight of a building with a huge elm tree branching out through the roof, and three smaller trees also protruding from the roof, is attracting widespread attention. The trees were not disturbed when part of council objected to removing them.

TO GIVE BENEFIT FOR CRIPPLED LAD

There is a real human interest story connected with Greydon Jeffries, a fifteen year old boy who has not walked since he was six years old. Hearing of Dr. C. C. Hazard and some of the cures of osteopathic treatment, the orphan boy, managed to come to this city from his home in Sedalia in the hope that he might be cured.

He had a mere pittance for a few weeks' board and Dr. Hazard is charging nothing for the cure which he is exerting all his skill to effect.

Mrs. Boots, of Millwood, is taking care of him for $1.00 per day.

Dr. Hazard is well satisfied that the boy can be cured if he can keep him fifty days longer, but, "aye, there's the rub," the boy's scant funds are gone and he has no parents to turn to for help. The case is one appealing to sympathies beyond the ordinary and there is now on foot a "Greydon Jeffries Benefit" promoted by kind-hearted people, who hope through it to raise the $50 necessary for the boy's stay in this city.

The entertainment will be given by the Bromley Singers; Miss Forest Allen and Mrs. John McFadden, readers; Miss Mazie Kessler and the high school orchestra and the Stinson Conservatory piano quartet.

The entertainment will be given on January the 15th, place to be announced later.

BIG CANNING DEAL IS CLOSED TUESDAY

Messrs. W. J. Sears, John A. Poland and J. H. Blacker, of The Sears Nichols Canning Corporation, Chillicothe, were in the city this morning, closed the deal with H. M. Crites by which they become the sole owners of the holdings of The C. E. Sears & Co., canning plants in Circleville, Washington C. H., London, Canal Winchester and Stoutsville.

The sale includes the good will of the above plants.

These holdings in addition to the Scioto factory at Ashville, puts the Sears-Nichols Corporation in the list of larger canning industries in the Middle West.

Mr. Crites has not definitely decided whether he will go into the Beet Sugar industry at this point or not, but it is to be hoped that he will as it is thought it can be made as successful here as in any county in any state in the land.—Circleville Herald.

THE FAIR GROUNDS INVOLVED IN SUIT

Estella M. Scott Brings Action to Quiet Title to Two Tracts of Land Forming Part of Estate of John B. McLean.

Still another suit in connection with the John B. McLean estate has been filed in the common pleas court, for the purpose of clearing title to certain lands, including the 47 acres which constitute the Fair Grounds.

The style of the suit is: Estella M. Scott, Flossie M. Scott, Esther Scott and Earl Scott against Mary P. McLean, D. T. McLean as executor of the estate of John B. McLean, Benjamin R. Barbee, executor of the estate of John B. McLean, Marzella O. McLean and Zenas B. McLean.

Plaintiffs state that on April 3, 1906 John B. McLean gave to plaintiffs the title to 239.79 acres in one tract and 48.86 in the second tract, and executed a deed giving the realty mentioned to Estella M. Scott, for her lifetime, and at her death the title to pass to her three children. This deed was placed in hands of the first named plaintiff July 3, 1916.

Plaintiff charges that on July 24, 1914, John B. McLean made his last will and testament, and divided his property so that it did not interfere with plaintiff's title to land above mentioned.

It is further charged that sometime after the will was executed Mr. McLean fell and injured his head, rendering him an imbecile, and that Chas. G. Saffin, Jr., was appointed guardian. That on December 29, 1915, Mr. McLean was "procured" to sign another paper purporting to be his last will, and that he endeavored to give to defendant, Mary P. McLean, 47 acres known as the Fair Grounds.

It is charged that both executors of the two wills claim right to administer the instruments. Plaintiff asks that the defendants be required to set up their claims on the property the title to which plaintiffs claim gives the two tracts to them.

Maddox & Maddox and John Logan represent the plaintiffs.

ACTON IS NABBED WITH THE GOODS

Charles Acton is again in the toils of the law, and unless something unforeseen occurs to prevent, he is good for another term in the Ohio penitentiary, from which place he was released soon after he testified in the prison scandal a few months ago.

Acton, who was arrested a number of times but always succeeded in evading conviction while he resided arrested near Massieville, this week, in this city some two years ago, was after he had burglarized a neighbor's house and removed virtually everything he could carry off. Part of the stolen goods were found in his possession. He had disposed of the remainder.

Acton was placed under arrest, admitted his guilt, and is now in the Ross county jail awaiting action of the grand jury.

The man is wanted in Pike county, also, where a reward of $50 has been offered for his arrest and conviction on charge of stealing some valuable fox hounds from a man where he had stopped while representing himself to be a cattle buyer.

He originally was sent up from Ross county for burning a store at Higby. When last heard of his wife was still living in this city.

SENDS GREETING TO B. & O. EMPLOYEES

In the New Year's greeting sent by Pres. Daniel Willard to all employees of the B. & O. system is more than a hint of the trials of the railroad during the past year.

In his message Mr. Willard says: "Once more I desire to extend to my fellow officers and employees in the Baltimore & Ohio Service Greetings and best wishes for the New Year just begun and at the same time I want to thank all for their loyal support and co-operation during the year just closed.

"The trying period through which we are passing has brought to the Railroads and to their employees unusual and extremely difficult problems. While subject like all others to the heavy burden of higher prices and the increase cost of living the railroad unlike nearly all other industrial undertakings, is not able to readily readjust its charges and thereby realize the full benefits that should accrue from an enlarged business under existing conditions and this results in placing upon the Rail-

New rates announced by the Chillicothe News-Advertiser are virtually the same. A single month's subscription is fixed at 60 cents in town. Single copies are 3 cents.

LICENSE PROMPTLY REFUSED THIS PAIR

Judge Frank M. Allen Wednesday afternoon refused to issue a license to wed to a white man and a colored woman who appeared at his office and asked for a license.

The woman gave her name as Martha Jackson, 41, widow, mother of five children, and the man stated that his name was Daniel Cutler, 40, widower with two children. He stated that he came to this city from Circleville.

As the pair left the office together, without show of affection on the part of either, the woman said: "Thank 's, Judge! No harm done I reckon." "Not a bit," replied the Judge.

The Domination of Prussia

Germany has not only sent some of her most capable military drill masters, disciplinarians and tacticians to Turkey to prepare the armies of the Sultan for effective service, the Kaiser has not only sent generals to take charge of and direct the Ottoman troops in the actual fighting but now the empire is reaching out, looking forward apparently to a continuance of the war and bringing the young men and boys from Turkey to Germany to educate them in the science of German militarism.

That's the German method. It is typical of the Prussian war power way of doing things. Not only do they teach a better system—a more thorough system—but with that dominating Prussian spirit they insist upon the adoption of the method carrying that insistence to the extreme of resorting to force if necessary to accomplish the purpose.

There is no hesitancy among Germany's enemies nor among her friends to give almost entire credit for the success of the Turks to German drill masters and German commanders. The same thing is true with regard to the Austrian and Bulgarian forces. Their successes are due almost wholly to the establishment of the Prussian military rule of iron.

With the hordes of Turks under command of Turkish generals, with the Bulgarian armies directed by the aids of Czar Ferdinand and with the Austrians allowed to follow their own ideas of warfare the great conflict to day would not be at a dead lock.

Prussia dominates Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria just as completely as it does the German Empire.

The Railroad Strike Menace

The National Congress has convened in regular session and there is facing the law making body of the land a tremendous program to be completed if possible before the session is ended in March.

Foremost perhaps in its general importance is the so called railroad legislation comprising the remainder of the program submitted by President Wilson at the time the Adamson eight hour day law was enacted.

It now and always has been, since the menace of a general railroad strike threatened the nation last summer, the purpose of the President and the leaders in Congress to enact such legislation as will prevent either the railroad magnates or the men from bringing on a paralysis of the public business in order to enforce compliance with their demands, the one from the other.

The people of the nation whose business depends, largely upon the operation of the great common carriers—the railroads—have no concern in any dispute which may arise between managers and men and it is to protect the interests of the public that legislation is so much needed and so insistently urged.

New laws in that regard should be enacted at the earliest possible moment consistent with a proper consideration of its tremendous importance.

The government of the people should be clothed by legislation with such rights as will prevent individuals from halting the public business.

The Adamson law standing alone accomplishes nothing. Its enactment afforded only a temporary relief but in connection with a comprehensive enactment it will perhaps be an important part.

Preserving Our History

Americans are now devoting more care and attention to the preservation of the homes of men connected prominently with our early history.

The progress along that line in this country during the past decade, abundantly attests that American men and women are attacking more importance to the romance and the tragedy of our early national struggles—the achievements and the tragedies of the great men and women of those days are being appreciated now as never before and material things connected with their earthly existence are being gathered together and preserved in order that the present and the future generations may come into more intimate touch with the existence and achievements of the patriots.

Americans have recently purchased the historic chateau in France which was the birthplace of Marquis de La Fayette. It will be preserved and perpetuated as a memorial museum and home. In it will be housed all the relics of the great French patriot who did so much to aid the struggling colonists in their fight for freedom.

The tendency of prosperous Americans to preserve these old homes of the patriots is one, in every way, wholesome and deserving of encouragement.

The results of the work are invaluable for future generations. They preserve our national history in a volume which the passing years makes more valuable, more enduring and more available as a means of teaching that which should be taught

Poetry For Today

A TALK TO THE BOY

Come, boy, to your dad, let me tell you some things
Of the man who loved me as I'm now loving you.
For the heart is a pendulum heavy that swings
Aye forward and back as all pendulums do.
And tonight mine has swung far away to the time
When your dad had a dad, just as you have, my son—
A dad to whose arms I was welcome to climb
When his day in the cornfield or meadow was done.

I crept into arms that were stronger, my lad;
And his hands—O so tender—were harder than mine.
For the world had been harsh with the dad of your dad—
Yet I wish that my soul were as gentle and fine
As the one roughly clad in that body of his.
That so lavishly gave of his strength for one
Who now shelters you. And my prayer's burden is That you may think of your father, my son.

What I've gained I have gained—his the heavier cost;
He in embryo held all things I have done;
Yet I fear—gravely fear—there are things I have lost
That sadly diminish the triumph, my son.
So lie close, little man—there's so little we know,
Except that I love you and you can love me.
And I smile with content that you're loving me so,
And am glad in that love, as my dad used to be.

NOT SO MUCH

(By American Press)

Washington, Jan. 3.—Henry Ford filed with the clerk of the national house of representatives a report of the amount he spent in his famous "publicity campaign" in support of President Wilson's re-election. The surprising fact about Ford's report is the small amount he actually expended as compared with the half million or more he was reported as spending for publicity. His publicity campaign in twenty-five states cost $23,529.53, with some minor bills still unpaid. He spent $1,832.98 in Ohio.

BREEZY LETTER FROM THE BORDER

Lieut. Paul Writes of Reception of Christmas Package, Conditions in Camp, and Gives Insight Into Life on the Border.

The following breezy letter from the Border is by First Lieutenant of Company M, B. E. Paul, and gives an insight into camp life and what the boys are doing while marking time on the southern extremity of "God's country."

El Paso, Texas,

December 27 1916.

Well the big boxes and barrels came so many we thought the old home wouldn't have any thing left to celebrate with. I never saw so many different things in all my life; it would make a 5 and 10 cent store look like a rummage sale—even had all the stuffs for pies, which I will add was some thoughtful of Mr. Fullerton.

Then some mother was thoughtful, as all mothers are and added a package for the man that got the worst of every deal; that was the butt of all jokes; the one that every one picked on. We have just such a man. You should have seen his face light up when I handed him the present. I only hope that mother will read this. I do wish she could have been here to see the expression on that boys face. I am sure she would have felt well repaid for the trouble she took.

I only hope I am never too rich to spend any more Christmas Holidays away from home, where you can get up in the morning and take a walk in your shirt sleeves and not freeze to death. That Aint Christmas! that's Texas; that is what we did in the morning. At night I tried to borrow another overcoat—one wasn't enough. It sure can get colder here quicker than any place I know of.

You know it sure is a treat to hear some of the boys cuss Texas; you all know I am rather backward and it it don't hurt me, it sure woun't hurt any other church member.

"Sug" Pommel likes, Texas—the same way Billy Sunday likes booze; I don't blame him. He has gained only 42 lbs. since he lit here. The climate don't agree with him at all. I know by the time we go home they will charge us excess on him.

"Poet" McAllister, says if he didn't talk so much he wouldn't get so much extra duty, and he just can't give up talking. He is also "agin" the climate. We can't get trousers large enough around the waist to keep him from looking like a wheat sack in bad order. Poor boy! we watch him very closely, for fear he will be ready to market before the sea opens.

We had to send Sam Lydy home while he could make it. He sure was picking up fast; don't know what we would have done with that boy had he been stubborn and refused to go.

Harry Ferguson is also trying to join some show via the museum route. He has a good excuse; he is first sergeant and has nothing to do 'cept lay around.

Great many of the boys kick. Gee Wiz! how some of them kick! but I have always noticed that when the time came to do something they were always on the bit. On the hike to Las Cruces they went through all a human being could stand and came, into camp with bells on.

Those who do the real kicken about how hard the work and how bad the food, are just mad. This is the first job they ever had, they couldn't turn loose. At home they eat out of a paper sack and a tin can. I think before they get home they will be real men. We are very thankful they are few.

Now some of the boys are a little home-sick. If you could have seen how some of them lived before we got fixed up, you wouldn't blame them. And on border patrol, if you can find me any snow that get as cold as this sand, well, you will have to show me.

Would like to say something about each and every one of the boys and they all know I could. I know some of them better than their mothers do, but if they come cleanl will keep still about them, if they will promise the same thing about me.

Now I want to add one thing more, if Mr. Fullerton thought for one minute that by sending blackberries for pies, he could bluff me out, he sure is fooled. I am not one bit afraid of appendicitis.

Now one thing more and I will close we, as a company have eaten more sand than Geoge Perry ever hauled in any one day.

Bye,

BILLIE.

DAYTON WEDDING IN OLD FAMILIES

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Dayton, Ohio, January 3.—The wedding at the First Baptist this afternoon of Miss Evelyn Huffman, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Frank Huffman, and Frederick B. Patterson, son of John H. Patterson, will unite two of the oldest and wealthiest families in the Miami Valley.

The bride's gift from her father was $25,000 worth of gilt edge securities. The bridegroom's parents gave the couple a check to cover the entire furnishings of their new home.

Their honeymoon will be spent in Honolulu, China, and Japan and will last a year.

PAVLOWA

One of the greatest events in the history of the motion picture art will take place at the Lyceum Theater on Thursday, January 4th, when Russia's dancer, Anna Pavlova, will appear on the screen in a massive spectacle entitled, "The Dumb Girl of Portici."

It is a remarkable illustration of modern achievement in the amusement field when one of the public's idols absolutely refuses to make public the money which she will find in her pay envelope at the end of each week. There is nothing the great opera diva so delighted as to see in the newspapers the grossly exaggerated statement of her weekly honorarium, but in the case of Anna Pavlova one may look in vain for any statement of the reasons which induced her to capitulate to the cameraman. All that is known, even to the officials of the Universal Film Company, is that the amount Pavlova will receive for spending one month in Los Angeles, is saved to provide the capital which will finance the tour with the Boston Opera Company. Furthermore, it is believed that Pavlova's great incentive to appear before the camera, in "The Dumb Girl of Portici" was that it would enable her to achieve the goal of having a full fledged impresario and the first of her sex to back and direct a great opera company comprising over two hundred persons and entailing an expenditure of nearly $30,000 a week.

One may, therefore, no longer marvel at the tremendous strides of the motion picture art.

Now some of the boys are a little home-sick. If you could have seen how some of them lived before we got fixed up, you wouldn't blame them. And on border patrol, if you can find me any snow that get as cold as this sand, well, you will have to show me.

Would like to say something about each and every one of the boys and they all know I could. I know some of them better than their mothers do, but if they come cleanl will keep still about them, if they will promise the same thing about me.

Now one thing more and I will close we, as a company have eaten more sand than Geoge Perry ever hauled in any one day.

WINTER CARE OF AUTOMOBILE TIRES

If an automobile is used only occasionally during the winter, the wheels should be supported by jacks and the tires should be partially deflated.

The tires should be kept from grease and moisture as grease is injurious to the rubber and moisture to the fabric.

If the car is laid up for the winter, the tires should be removed. Cuts in the rubber should be repaired in order that moisture may not enter the fabric. The tires should be wrapped in paper or burlap to keep them as dry as possible and to protect them from sunlight. They should be placed in a dry room with the temperature ranging between 40 and 65 degrees.

Inner tubes should be removed and be either deflated or rolled loosely with a slight air pressure left in them. The tubes should then be given the same care as the tires.—O. S. U. Bulletin.

BEAUTIFUL CEREMONIES BY CHURCH AND LODGE

He sleeps beneath a wilderness of flowers — William Worthington, the capitalist, the Bank President, the man of influence and affairs, "Will" Worthington — the kindly friend, the progressive farmer, the ready helper — "Billy" Worthington — the jovial companion of men and of fraternal brothers — and in the quiet of that eternal rest there is no sorrow.

But a pall of sadness hung over the living community, Tuesday afternoon as the long funeral procession wended its way from the home to Grace Church; it enveloped the lines of Elks and men of the Dutch Treat Club, who standing bareheaded on the streets formed an aisle between which the cortege passed; and it followed them into the church to rest over the great concourse of people waiting but heaviest of all it fell upon the little family coming after the magnificent bronze casket, covered only with the beautiful floral blanket of their remembrance.

From every part of the county people had driven and from every walk of life they had come, and in the crowded church no less than in the impressive service, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington, and wonderful in their wide range of tribute and appreciation, high honor was paid the dead.

Assisting the pastor in the services were Rev. T. W. Locke, a former pastor and close friend of the family, and State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, A. H. Lichty, who from his personal Y. M. C. A. work in this city with Mr. Worthington, fully realized the loss of the man to the cause.

Each, in turn, spoke eloquently along the line of their special knowledge. Upon Rev. Cherrington, whose personal acquaintance had been necessarily brief, the statements he had heard made by conservative business men concerning Mr. Worthington as a man and a loss to the community, had left a deep impression and he quoted a number of these testimonials, deeply significant as they were — the minister spoke of the early life in a Christian home and how the son had finished the father's work in the building of the modern church at Staunton, in which Mr. Worthington's elder daughter was the first child baptized. During the last few years there had seemed to come to Mr. Worthington a larger vision of life and a greater desire to help his fellow men; a new thoughtfulness and impulse to give the world a lift — and the minister voiced the general regret that such possibilities for usefulness should be stifled in death.

Rev. Cherrington read the following sketch, beautifully written by one of Mr. Worthington's closest friends, Hon. C. A. Reid.

William Worthington, son of Robert and Jennie McDowell Worthington, was born at their country home, about seven miles south of Washington C. H., April 19th, 1870. He died December 29th, 1916, before reaching the age of 47 years. His father and mother and the older members of the well known Worthington family have passed away, excepting one uncle, Thomas S. Worthington. He leaves one older half brother, Joseph Worthington, and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Calvert of this city. Mrs. Rhoda Rowe, wife of Elmer Rowe, was reared in the Worthington home, and regarded as a member of that household by the entire family.

His early years were spent on the farm, and from his birth his residence has been in Fayette County. He attended school in the country as youth, and finished his education at the University at Valparaiso, Indiana.

On the 27th day of November, 1895, he was married to Mepah Overman, daughter of W. C. and Elizabeth Overman, of Highland County, Ohio, who with their two daughters, Edith, aged 17 years, and Jean, nine years of age, survive the father and husband.

His father, Robert Worthington being an extensive farmer and stock raiser, gave him early experience and training in habits of business and industry, which successfully marked his career through his remaining years. A short while after completing his education, he became associated with the Peoples & Drovers Bank of this city, and continued his service with that banking company until he retired to organize the Fayette County Bank, which through the years of his direction, has become one of the highly successful banking organizations of the county, and of which he was president at the time of his death.

While banking may have been his chief concern in business, yet his efficient activities were not confined within its limits.

He owned and operated successfully large farming interests, and was identified with many other business interests in this and other counties.

The same forceful endeavor that aided him in mastering questions of business attended his interest in public affairs, and his tireless efforts show reward in the improvement of public highways, building of streets in our city, and in the building and erection of churches and other institutions for the benefit of the public. He had been a member since his youth of the Methodist Episcopal church at the village of Staunton, near this city, where his father and mother worshiped before him; and it is no reflection on the faith or zeal of the many prominent members of that society to say, that the beautiful and commodious church edifice in that parish, in no small measure reflects his judgment and energy as a member of the building committee.

As President of the Business Men's organization, known as "The Dutch Treat Club," he has labored incessantly in behalf of civic betterments. It was under his leadership and indomitable spirit, exercised in the interests of our city and its citizens that the organization of which we speak, procured the new Union Station and train sheds recently erected by the B. & O. Railway Company.

This much needed Depot, and the extensive improvements about the premises, so necessary for the safety and comfort of our people, as well as ornamental to our city, stands as a monument to the memory of William Worthington, giving silent testimony of his unselfish public spirit, and of the great loss the public sustains in his seeming untimely death.

He likewise gave his time, his means, his heart and soul, in behalf of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city. He not only directed as a leader the campaign which raised a fund of $25,000.00, for this institution, dedicated to the religious and moral uplift of the boys and young manhood of our city and county; but he patiently gave with untiring spirit his time and business tact toward the collection of these subscriptions, covering a period of many months.

His charity was not limited or restricted to public service and giving. Alms fell from his hand, flowing with generous ripple in channels of love to the relief of worthy want, many times when the right hand withheld knowledge from the left. His sympathies were strong for the weak, the wronged, the poor, and lovingly he rendered aid. Many young men whose energies and ambitions were stifled by poverty, found opportunity to develop their business ability and thrift through his assistance.

He sleeps today beneath a wilderness of flowers. Myriad tokens of love, whispering tributes of fond appreciation for some kindly service.

Mr. Worthington was a member of Masonic Lodge (Fayette) No. 107, and was also a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, No. 125, of this city. The principles and ideals of these fraternal organizations are richly exemplified in the activities of his life, herein mentioned.

But the heart strings that bound him most closely to life were not centered in either business or social achievement; they were the tenderest chords that vibrate in the great throbbing heart of mankind; the chords that were touched by the great sweet when he gave to the world his song of "Home Sweet Home." For a busy man he spent much of his time with his family. It was a delight to witness the peaceful concord, the unmeasured devotion, and boundless joy and delight that were enthroned in his household. The happiness, comfort and well being of his two interesting daughters and his devoted wife, were continual objects of his anxiety that afforded him pleasure; and the mental picture that gave him greatest pain as he contemplated death, as he expressed it, — was the "great divide" which separated him from his family. If a request was made to select an ideal from his life which most predominates, — from those who knew him in his home, would come the answer, — "Domestic affection, — pure, devoted and stainless."

We do not mean to say he had no faults. If death sealed lips could speak today, he'd tell you in his plain frank way he's made mistakes like all the rest of us. But where virtues tower above man's weaknesses, although his life goes out at manhood's noon, it leaves a halo circling round, studded with jewels of kindly service and gentle deeds that dispel the shadows made by his mistakes.

We can not understand the mystery of a tragedy like this. Why one so strong and active, so useful to his family and mankind, should thus be called before he passes life's highest milestone? Why the loving care and counsel of a good father should so suddenly be withdrawn from promising childhood and budding womanhood, when from an earthly view it seems most needed? Why should manhood's warmest friendships and associations be wrecked in life's midstream? Why sunder household ties, and give instead a cup of bitter sorrow?

From the silence of the grave we hear no response.

But when we see how short, at best in life's brief span as it flutters for a moment between two vast eternities — through the vision of Christian Faith, we behold coming out of the darkness of death a golden bow of promise that, "this mortality shall put on immortality," and that what we here call death is but "the golden key that opens the palace of eternity."

The minister followed the memoir by reading the hymn, "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" — one of the three hymns read at the funeral of the deceased's mother and the call of the last hour, when neither wealth nor prestige availed.

Mr. Lichty made a strong presentation of the measure of Mr. Worthington's life as felt in his recent Y. M. C. A. work. He said among other things:

Mr. Worthington undertook a very difficult piece of financial work nearly three years ago for the Young Men's Christian Association. What is needed in this world is leadership, and it is very difficult to find leadership of the right sort, and when the gentlemen who have been actively identified with this movement from its beginning were looking over the entire city for the one man who could lead this movement to success, their choice fell upon our friend. He didn't shove himself forward for the opportunity. If he could have consulted his own wishes entirely, he would not have undertaken a difficult piece of work like that. However, rather than consult his own wishes, he listened to the bidding of men in whom he had confidence, and he did their bidding. Here was a man unselfish to the disregarding of his own interests, not for himself, but for the future of the boys and young men of this city, and he responded nobly and led the group of workers to victory. Here was a man who was willing to sacrifice his own time, his own business interests, and give unselfishly of his own money to advance an industry in which there was no personal gain for him. It is not so difficult to get men to support a good movement that will profit them personally as it is to get a man to lend his best efforts to building up a work that will not benefit him. Our good friend accepted the opportunity for rendering a service of constructive value to his own community, which meant giving largely of his time, great anxiety, as well as large gifts of money, and thereby set us a very worthy example, and in following his example, we will enrich our own lives and make not only ourselves, but our whole community better. And last, I call your attention to the fact that those who knew Mr. Worthington best never doubted for a moment that he would succeed in his undertaking, but that he would be unwavering in his leadership; but that he would have confidence in the public-spirited men of the community that they would stand by him.

At the closing of the early life of our good friend, he left much undone that he had hoped to do, and the closing of that life and the work which is left to be done is a great challenge to follow up the good work which he has laid down, not only in this particular line, but in other lines in the community. Here is a great challenge to the public-spirited manhood in Washington Court House and environs.

Rev. Locke dwelt upon the man in the home circles; the man whose love for his family surpassed all outside interests, of a domestic affection "pure, devoted and stainless." The bond between husband and wife, father and daughters, brother and sisters and even with relatives not so close was, too, strong a one for even death to break, and great as is the loss to the community, it is overshadowed by what it means in the home circle.

Rev. Lock closed his heartfelt remarks by reading "Face to Face." The B. P. O. Elks then held their ritual services, leaving a lasting imprint in their simplicity and beauty. They were conducted by Exalted Ruler Clark Gossard and the corps of officers.

The eulogy delivered by esteemed leading knight Jess W. Smith, very beautiful in eloquent appreciation, won the tribute of hushed silence.

The organist, Miss Light, played softly while friends passed the bier and many entered autos for the farewell committal service.

The Elks conducted the services at the grave, assisted by Rev. Sadlow of the Staunton church, and Y. M. C. A. Secy. Lichty in prayer.

The pall-bearers chosen by Mr. Worthington, were Hon. C. A. Reid, Dr. L. M. McFadden, Messrs B. F. Jamison, Wm. M. Campbell, James Ford, Charles McLean.

The flowers were marvelous — baskets, designs, cut flowers in wonderful profusion from relatives and friends far and near. One of the handsomest was a "garden of pink roses," against a background of palm leaves, the gift of B. F. Jamison, a former partner. Among the special designs were a superb wreath of American Beauty roses and lilies from the Dutch treat club; Floral Clock, the Elks, floral emblem; F. & A. M.; Immense horse shoe pink carnations, Washington matinee club; double spray lilies, pink roses and carnation, Fayette Co. Bank; floor vase lilies, chrysanthemums; and roses, four city banks; double spray pink roses, Fish and Game Association; double spray pink roses and carnation Y. M. C. A.; pink roses, Fayette Grain Co.; wreath roses and hyacinths; Post and Reid law firm; basket pink roses snap dragons, and lilies, the Dahl-Campbell Gro. Co.; Girls' Club wreath magnolia and wine carnations; carnation and narcissi, Fourth Grade; spray pink carnations, Mrs. Ada Jones' S. S. Class; basket roses and narcissi Jean's little club; basket American Beauty roses and carnation Co. M. and Major Allen; wreath galaxy leaves and carnations Statton's store.

Among relatives and friends from out of town here were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McDowell, daughter, Miss Gladys; Miss Carrie McDowell; Mr. and Mrs. Will Blakeley, Bristol, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, daughter, Miss Charlotte, Columbus; Mr. Andrew Martin, Cleveland; Y. M. C. A. Secretary Lichty; Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Locke, Columbus; Mr. Newton Calvert and family; Mr. Wm. AGREEMENT IS REJECTED

Officially Admitted at Washington That the Head of the De Facto Government of Mexico Declines to Sign the Protocol Drawn Up by the Mexican-American Commission—Arredondo Likely to Be Recalled.

Top to Bottom: THIERRY, VON BATOCKI, LORD DEVONPORT

Washington, Jan. 3.—That General Carranza has refused to sign the protocol providing for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico is admitted by officials here.

Carranza's reply was not made public. He is understood to have taken the position that he could not sign the protocol because it would put him in the position of sanctioning the presence of American troops on Mexican soil.

There are indications that efforts to enter into an agreement with the Mexico de facto government through the Mexican-American commission will be abandoned. The commissioners said they expected to draft their response to Carranza today.

The failure of the commission to give to Mexican-American relations a brighter aspect was offset somewhat by official intimations that Henry P. Fletcher, confirmed as ambassador to Mexico almost a year ago, was about to start for his post, where American interests now are represented by a clerk.

The report that General Pershing's expedition soon would be withdrawn regardless of Carranza's attitude also gained fresh impetus, and it was understood the administration had this move under very serious consideration.

Mr. Fletcher conferred with President Wilson after the cabinet meeting and later referred inquiries as to whether he would go to Mexico to President Wilson and Secretary Lansing. No statement was forthcoming from the White House or the state department.

Secretary Baker said no plans for immediate withdrawal of the troops had been considered. It is known, however, that army officers are pressing strongly for their recall, contending that in their present position they can not do effective work toward protecting the border; that they are in a bad strategic position and should be brought out and distributed along the border with plans perfected for sending a force across the line at some more desirable point if the occasion should arise in the future.

Eusebio Arredondo, Mexican ambassador-designate, announced that he had been summoned to Mexico to confer with General Carranza regarding the relations of the two nations. This was construed in some quarters as indicating a determination by Carranza to withdraw his diplomatic representative. Mr. Arredondo stated, however, that he expected to return within a few weeks to resume his duties, and the fact that the United States was contemplating sending its ambassador to Mexico City lent weight to the theory that if Mr. Arredondo was not continued in his position here another envoy would be sent by Carranza. Mr. Arredondo's family remain in Washington.

Ramon P. Denegri, former consul general of the Carranza government in San Francisco, will act as charge of the Mexican embassy temporarily.

SOME ACTION SOON IS ANTICIPATED

Buckeye Solons Reported Favorable to City Relief.

Columbus, Jan. 3.—Officials of debt-burdened cities, who have been keeping a close watch on the legislature, are breathing a little easier. Signs so far look encouraging for financial relief for cities. It is known Speaker Hopple of the lower house will try to appoint a taxation committee favorable to city relief. Senator William Agnew of Cleveland is likely to be chairman of the senate taxation committee. Governor Willis in his message recommended a change in taxation laws to help cities, and the forecast is that Governor Cox will make his plea even stronger.

Before joint session Clerks Cassidy and Pealer reported submission to them of the initiated bill of the Ohio State Federation of Labor to oust private liability companies from the state. By motion of Representative Chapman, Dayton, the bill is placed on file and will be referred to the labor committee of the house when appointed.

Each house authorized a committee to purchase enough additional copies of the general code of Ohio to provide each member and appropriate committees with one.

The house authorized Sergeant-at-Arms Reis to appoint not more than seventeen assistants for door, porter and other services at $3.50 a day. Appointment of the following by the speaker was authorized: Stenographers, Mrs. Ella M. Scriven, Columbus; Jessie Maxwell, Greene county; O. C. Wooley, Columbus; Mildred Miller, Dayton; Mary Turner, Columbus; Georgia Goddard, Washington county; pages, George Hardesty, Crawford county; Howard Morris, Columbus; Weaver Henderson, Hocking county; Robert Hanley, Montgomery county. W. F. Corcoran, Lucas county, was appointed assistant postmaster.

HERE ON TIME

(By American Press)

Washington, Jan. 3.—The annual postoffice appropriation bill reported to the house carried provisions to increase rates on newspapers, magazines and other second-class matter by a zone system, establish penny postage on local letters, and impose heavier penalties for sending liquor through the mails. The bill would appropriate $329,553,120, $4,000,000 more than the current postoffice act, readjust rural carriers' salaries and increase the pay of a number of employees.

Magazine publishers have protested vigorously against the rate increase, which would affect only publications carried more than 300 miles, and Postmaster General Burleson proposed to Chairman Moon of the house postoffice committee a substitute provision to postpone the effectiveness of the increase for a year after the measure becomes a law. The bill directs that hereafter catalogues and similar publications be classified as third-class matter, with increased postage.

GUARDING AGAINST DEFICIT

Administration Leaders Considering the Advisability of Placing Tariff Duties on Commodities Other Than Coffee, Rubber, Wool and Sugar. Revenues From These Will Fall Below the Sum Needed.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The problem of raising additional revenue for the government to avoid the threatened deficit at the end of the next fiscal year has assumed such proportions that administration leaders in congress are reviewing the entire free list to consider the advisability of placing tariff rules on other commodities than coffee, rubber and wool and increasing the present tariff on sugar.

Revenues to be derived from these four sources will fall far below the sum needed, unless there is a radical revision upward of the tariff duties originally proposed on them. Estimates placed before the ways and means committee by treasury department experts are said to show that under a maximum tariff of 5 per cent these four commodities would yield not more than $50,000,000 annually and probably not more than $45,000,000. Secretary McAdoo estimates that approximately $195,000,000 will have to be raised by taxation in addition to sums to be derived from proposed bond issues.

The chief remaining articles on the free list, not eliminated by the policy of nondisturbance of such big industries as the iron and steel trade, include cocoa, drugs, undressed furs and skins, meats, oils, potatoes, silk and tea. Other articles on the free list understood to have been virtually eliminated from consideration are copper and iron ore, leather and steel products, such as rails. A host of minor articles also are on the free list, and on these estimates have been furnished the committee, showing the amount of revenue which small tariff duties would yield.

Additional sources of revenue under consideration by the committee include articles on which the internal revenue bureau collects an excise tax, notably tobacco. Tobacco already is under heavy excise and tariff taxes, but some officials feel that considerably more revenue could be raised by imposing additional taxes which would not add appreciably to the cost to the consumer.

Indications now are that President Wilson will leave the problem to the ways and means committee and will not find it necessary to make recommendations to congress to cover the situation.

DOESN'T LIKE IT

(By American Press)

New York, Jan. 3.—Dr. Leonard S. Sugden, war surgeon, hunter, whaler and all-round soldier of fortune, is returning to Alaska—back where they treat women with some respect, where people don't rush for the mere sake of rushing, and where there are not so many contrasts. Dr. Sugden was a ship's surgeon in the Russo-Japanese war, and has set foot in most of the ports of the seven seas, but no New York for him. He has just spent the holidays here.

"I'm cured," he said. "I'm going back to Alaska. Why, the Yukon stampede never had anything on the New York subway. And the way New York treats its women! Way, in the far north, where life is supposed to be rough, no painted lady ever was handled so roughly as the women in New York cars and subways. The law of the wild things ever respects the female—New York civilization doesn't."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
